ALFA International, the Global Legal Network, Strengthens Presence in Africa with New Member Firm in South Africa,
*Knowles Husain Lindsay

(July 27, 2010) –ALFA International, the global legal network, is pleased to announce the membership addition of Knowles Husain Lindsay Inc (www.khl.co.za) a prominent legal practice in South Africa, to its network of independent global law firms.

Knowles Husain Lindsay Inc (KHL) is a 21-lawyer firm with offices in Johannesburg (the commercial capital of South Africa) and Cape Town. KHL specializes in commercial litigation and property law, labor, construction, insurance, insolvency, constitutional law, and administrative law, as well as dispute resolution. Furthermore, the firm recently expanded its services to include high-end commercial and corporate law services. KHL has established a reputation for innovation, excellence, and success, and the firm is renowned for providing high quality, cutting-edge legal and client services.

“South Africa is a vibrant business market and the economic hub of the African continent. The entire ALFA International organization benefits with the addition of the Knowles Husain Lindsay law firm as a resource in this vital region of global trade. KHL has the level of expertise and depth of legal business knowledge to well serve ALFA International members and clients,” stated Richard Hetke, CEO of ALFA International.

According to Mohamed Junaid Husain, the ALFA International Contact Partner at KHL (who is currently the President of the Commonwealth Lawyers Association),

“We are pleased to join the ALFA International global legal network as the organization’s go-to law firm in South Africa. Global businesses are increasingly active across southern Africa, and South Africa is the gateway to the rest of the continent. We welcome the opportunity to provide legal and business services to companies investing and expanding in this region. We look forward to working closely with our fellow ALFA members from around the globe.”
