ALFA International Firms Continue Roadshows On “Doing Business in Europe”

(March 15, 2016) — Attorneys from 10 European member firms of ALFA International-The Global Legal Network presented a seminar entitled “Navigating the Waters of Doing Business in Europe” on March 7, 2016 in Albany, NY. The attendees included representatives of businesses with international operations. This seminar followed the very successful presentation by European lawyers in Springfield, Missouri in March, 2015.

Presenting attorneys discussed cultural differences in a globalized world, covering various legal aspects of M&A from a European perspective. They advised on litigation and data protection issues that may arise when bridging the Atlantic Ocean as well as comparative employment law issues.

The program was organized by the local ALFA International member firm of Carter Conboy. Mike Murphy, a partner at Carter Conboy, said: “It is a great honor to bring our experienced colleagues and friends to Albany and to introduce them to our local businesses. Our excellent European lawyers provided our business community with an overview of European business and ways to establish new collaborative connections worldwide.”
