

Whose Case is it Anyway?

The Role of Improvisation in Storytelling in and out of the Courtroom

1. Improv is more than just comedy. It is about thinking on your feet.
2. Improve is a lot like trial – both are about creating a new reality.
3. The only rule of improv is that there are no rules.
4. Improv is about saying “yes” and building off your fellow participant’s ideas.
5. At its heart, improv is about listening to your fellow participant.

Tim Peebles

Moderator

DANIEL COKER HORTON & BELL

Oxford, Mississippi

tpeeples@danielcoker.com

Lindsey Hazelton

HANCOCK EASTABROOK

Syracuse, New York

lhazelton@hancocklaw.com